FIRST FRIDAYS
Professional Development Series

Join your colleagues for a new and interesting professional development workshop on the first Friday of each month. Explore different aspects of the community college student population and learn new techniques for helping all students succeed.

Time: 3:00-4:00 p.m.

Location: The Point (ATLC 108)

---

Education is the most powerful weapon which you can use to change the world.

- Nelson Mandela

---

Dates & Details

- September 9: Contextualization: What It Is & Why It Matters.
  - Jason Ellis, Instructor of Academic Foundations Language – Middletown

- October 7: Recognizing and Preventing Reducing Cheating in Online Courses
  - Jon McKamey, Instructional Designer

- November 4: How to Read and Understand Cincinnati State’s Financial Statements
  - Stanislava Kantcheva, Instructor of Accounting

- December 2: The Student as Leader
  - Julie McLaughlin, Professor / Chair of First Year Experience
  - Juliann Young, Instructor of Psychology, Chair of Sociology and Social Work

- February 3: To IRB or Not to IRB, That is the Question
  - Juliann Young, Instructor of Psychology, Chair of Sociology and Social Work

- March 3: Think Like a Marketer to Achieve Success in the Classroom
  - Jeffrey Lovins, Instructor of Marketing Management

- April 7: Professors are From Mars, Students are from Venus
  - Yvonne Baker, Professor of Accounting

- May 5: Teaching the Research Essay: A Crash Course
  - Zachary Litton, Instructor of English
  - Daniel Todd, Instructor of English